

An aerial photograph of a stunning coastal bay. The water is a vibrant turquoise color, transitioning to a deeper blue as it meets the horizon. Several white sailboats are anchored in the bay, and a few motorboats are visible further out. The bay is framed by rugged, rocky cliffs on both sides, with some greenery and buildings visible on the left-hand cliff. The sky is a deep blue with scattered white clouds. The overall scene is serene and picturesque, suggesting a high-end vacation destination.
